Zack Ladd, Amherst BSA Troop 22's Newest Eagle Scout

AMHERST - Zachery Ladd of Amherst Boy Scout Troop 22 has just completed his Eagle Scout rank. The rank of Eagle Scout is the highest Rank in the BSA and a title held for life. Some well know Eagles include Gerald Ford, Neil Armstrong, Michael Bloomberg, Steven Spielberg, and Donald Rumsfeld.

Zachery completed his Eagle Scout project at PMEC in Amherst. He has updated the amphitheater using the planning, devel-opment and leadership skills he has learned during his 11 years in boy scouts. Zack took on rebuilding the benches and podium in the outdoor theater along with landscaping. He also added gravel and gardens to minimize future erosion of the sloping hillside.

Żack is a junior at Souhegan High School. He is an avid outdoorsman and member of the SHS First Robotics Team. He is employed at

Raising Money for Victims of Hurricane Šandy

AMHERST - Ainsley Redd recently received a certificate of appreciation from the American Red Cross for a $85 donation she made to aid in the relief efforts by the Red Cross after Hurricane Sandy ravaged parts of New York and New Jersey.

Ainsley raised the money by selling hot chocolate for five hours outside her village home on a Sunday. She donated 100% of the money she earned.

Her mother Christine Redd said, 'So many kind people made substantial donations, even during the holiday season, some without even taking the hot chocolate." Along with the certificate, the Red Cross sent a personalized letter thanking Ainsley. "This meant the world to Ainsley and none of us expected it!

I hope this can be inspiring to others," said Christine.
