Janice McDermott reports that on a beautiful early fall day that brought out a crowd of antique lovers, the attendees found many unique items for their homes and collections. The dealers said that buying was brisk. A big attraction turned out to be the addition of the Historical Society's and the Questers' treasures tables. Proceeds from both will provide funds for the current renovations at the Wigwam Museum, including interior painting, moving the Horace Greeley display and creating an office for society records. Music was provided on the town common by "Song of the Lark" - a trio of musicians who donated their time and talent for the event.

Janice is the past president of the Historical Society of Amherst and the organizer of the Antiques on the Green event.

★★★★★ We had a complete kitchen remodel with two new exterior windows (larger than before) and expansion into what used to be a dining room (wall removal). This was done mid-winter and took about 10 weeks. However, the results were worth the wait. We love the kitchen- it is perfectly crafted and high quality throughout. All of the workmen were friendly and professional. Bottom line- a true 5 star rating.

★★★★★ GSC designed a large Kitchen, Bar and Bathroom Vanity for our Lakehouse expansion project. Dick, Frank and Sue were outstanding professionals to work with. They came up with an excellent design that optimized quality and value, coming right in at budget. GSC was incredibly easy to work with and their enthusiasm for their final product was inspiring. The final results are just beautiful and far exceeded our expectations. Our highest recommendation for GSC!

★★★★★ After two years searching for the right kitchen design company we are glad we chose Granite State Cabinetry because they made our vision for our kitchen reality. They were able to make our seemingly impossible requests come true. They were reliable and easy to work with. Their top quality work left us with a classic kitchen that has custom design elements like an inlaid tile rug design on our new radiant heat tile floor. GSC was able to give us a state of the art kitchen but with a traditional and classic look.
